Lynda Maynard

Lynda Maynard has over 30 years experience in patternmaking and fitting. Her custom couture business caters to a high-end clientele. Lynda teaches a variety of classes from couture construction, pattern making to fit. Some of the venues for her classes are Cañada College, SF City College, Apparel Arts, and the Sewing Workshop. Lynda is the author of De-Mystifying Fit: Using the Moulage to Adjust Commercial Patterns and her upcoming book The Dressmaker's Handbook of Couture Sewing Techniques: Essential Step-by-Step Techniques for Professional Results.

Class Limited to 10 Students

Lynda is continuing her classes of custom pattern drafting with the San Jose ASG. In this set of 4 sessions you will take your measurements to draft a custom pant pattern. You will make muslins of this draft to ensure fit. You will learn where to make changes in your muslin and how to transfer those changes to your pattern. With the final pattern you will receive instructions on variations to try on your draft to make jeans, shorts, Capri's, yoga pants, etc. Come to get a great fitting pair of pants and enjoy Lynda's energizing teaching style.
